

Bald eagle (Haliaeetus leucocephalus)

In 1978, there were only about 25 eagles in the entire state. Thanks to the actions of many dedicated biologists and citizens, there are now over 100 eagles that breed in Arizona and many more that visit during the winter.